Ryan Abbate fired scores of 66-69-72-70 for a tournament total of 11-under par 277 to capture the 88th Florida State Amateur Championship at Bear Lakes Country Club in West Palm Beach on June 23-26.

Abbate, 24, of Fort Lauderdale, went wire-to-wire winning the title by four strokes at the Jack Nicklaus' designed Bear Lakes. In the first round, Abbate shot a 6-under par 66 on the Links course and a 69 in the second round on the Lakes course to lead the field of 74 players advancing to the weekend rounds. Playing the final 36 holes of the Championship on the Lakes course at 7,386 yards, Abbate shot even par in the third round to take a 5-stroke lead going into the final day. After an hour and six minute weather delay, Abbate posted a 70 to win the Championship.

Tampa Team Wins Shoot-Out

Brian Keenan and Paul Royak fired a third round score of 68 to capture the 3rd Florida State Two-Man Shoot-Out Championship at the Westin Innisbrook Resort in Palm Harbor on May 14-15, 2005.

The duo from Tampa finished with a three-round total of 194 to hold on and win the Championship by two strokes. In the first round of two-man scramble, Keenan and Royak posted an 8-under par 63 on Innisbrook's Copperhead Course, home of the PGA Tour's Chrysler Championship. Playing alternate shot in the second round, the pair fired an incredible 7-under par 63 on the Highlands North Course to lead by four strokes going into the final round. Keenan and Royak then recorded a 68 back on the Copperhead Course in the final round of four-ball to secure the Championship.

Matthew Anderson, from Tampa, and Scott Kennedy, of Pompano Beach, tied for second place with Michael Abrams, of St. Petersburg, and Michael Gilbourne, from Neptune Beach, after each team posted a three-round total of 196. Anderson and Kennedy shot a 62-68-66 while Abrams and Gilbourne recorded a consistent 65-66-65.

Improve the Pace of Play

by Jack Pultorak, FSGA Director of Rules and Competitions

“We had to wait on every shot! What took so long?”

How many times have you wondered what was taking that group ahead of you so long to play? Were they slow? Was it the group in front of them or the one in front of them? How come they didn't invite your group to play through? Were they lining up every putt from both sides? Did they think they were playing for a million bucks?

The biggest problem in golf today is pace of play. Many organizations and clubs have addressed this problem by instituting policies for pace of play ranging from player timing checkpoints to actually having a group punch a time clock after each nine holes. Many have had success while others have not been so fortunate.

The Florida State Golf Association has aligned itself more closely with the policy used by the USGA.

We will continue to use officials to monitor groups without using color coded flags or cards and you will not see a time clock next to the ninth or eighteenth green for each group to punch!

The two main factors in pace of play are the size of the groups and the interval between starting times. Have you ever noticed how traffic slows to a crawl on a busy interstate? If you put a thousand cars bumper to bumper on the interstate, it's going to be slow going. If you were to let those same thousand cars get started with a quarter of a mile in between each of them, there would be no traffic!

At the recent United States Open Championship conducted by the USGA, the first two rounds were conducted at eleven minute intervals with groups of three. There was a dramatic improvement from the old six hour rounds. And on Saturday and Sunday, players were grouped in two at ten minute intervals. That resulted in a four hour round or less!

Granted, not all of us have the whole course to ourselves. Dollars and cents usually prohibit a club from using these grouping and interval sizes. You just can not get as many players on the golf course in a day and thus the revenue stream diminishes.

The FSGA currently uses groups of three at nine minute intervals for individual events and groups of four with ten minute intervals in four-ball or team events. Using smaller groups helps, but if the interval is not large enough between groups, you are starting players in that traffic jam instead of allowing the quarter mile gap!

Try it if you can. If you can increase the interval between groups and reduce the size of the groups while staying out of bankruptcy, you will find that the pace of play will improve and you will enjoy the game of golf much more!

Three Advance to US Open from Florida Sectional

US Open entries closed April 27 with a record number of entries this year. More than 9,400 competitors attempted to qualify in one of 107 local qualifiers across the country. From May 9-May 23, the FSGA conducted 17 local qualifiers and a sectional qualifier at Old Memorial Golf Club in Tampa on June 7. The sectional qualifier is one of only 14 across the country.

At Old Memorial, Lee Rinker earned medalist honors to advance to his fifth career US Open Championship. Nick Gilliam and Josh McCumber also advanced to the 105th U.S. Open Championship at Pinehurst Resort & Country Club. Each of the three players qualifying from Old Memorial failed to make the cut but did have a good showing. Rinker shot a 76-74, Gilliam posted a 76-75 and McCumber carded a 73-80.

Boy's Junior Draws Over 240 Applicants

The field is now complete as 90 players have advanced to the 51st Florida State Boy's Junior Championship at Palma Ceia Golf and Country Club on August 1-3, 2005.

Competitors first must have qualified at one of the six sites across the state in 18 holes of stroke play. The Championship field will feature 90 of the top male amateur golfers in the state including qualifiers and exempt players. The field is divided into two age divisions; 13-15 junior division and 16-18 regular division. For the first time this year, competitors will play 54 holes of stroke play over the course of three days.

Palma Ceia is rich in tradition which was redesigned by Donald Ross in 1923. Gene Sarazen perfected the sand wedge at Palma Ceia in the bunker adjacent to the 9th green. Palma Ceia has also hosted many USGA and FSGA events and this year was the 50th anniversary of the Gasparilla Invitational.

Last year at The Golden Bear Club at Keene's Pointe in Windermere, Judson Eustaquio, of Lake Worth, won the regular division with a 68-71—139 as Wesley Graham, of Port Orange, won the junior division shooting a 68-74—142. Eustaquio and Graham are set to defend their titles as Chappell Brown, of West Palm Beach, the current Florida Junior Tour (FJT) points leader in the 16-18 age division, and Eric Black, from Celebration, the 13-15 points leader, will also be competing for the title. The Champion of the Junior Championship receives 1500 points towards the FJT points standings. In addition, FJT members will earn points for finishing in the top 25 in the Junior Championship.

The Champion of the Regular division receives three exemptions into AJGA events. The top five from the Regular division receive two exemptions each into AJGA events and the top ten finishers will receive one exemption toward an AJGA open tournament. Additionally, the top 14 finishes in the 16-18 division will be invited to compete in the Florida State Junior Match Play Invitational. The top eight finishes in the 13-15 division will also be invited to compete in the Junior Match Play Invitational.

Foundation Awards 3 Scholarships

The FSGA is pleased to announce that Gregory Pearlman, Jocelyn Dunn and Brian Terrinoni are recipients of the Future of Golf Foundation scholarship. The Future of Golf Foundation is awarded annually to benefit juniors and the future of golf in Florida.

Gregory Pearlman, 18, from Avon Park, currently attends South Florida Community College where he maintains a 3.5 GPA. Pearlman has been employed at Highlands Ridge Golf Club since 2002 and has worked his way to a golf shop attendant. An avid golfer, Gregory helps at the club with junior golf programs and clinics with hopes of being a head golf professional in the future.

Jocelyn Dunn, 17, of Sebring, is employed at Sebring Golf Club and formerly River Greens Golf Course. She recently graduated from Sebring High School and plans on attending Embry-Riddle Aerospace University in the fall to study aerospace engineering. Jocelyn has played varsity golf all four years of high school and will continue in college.

Brian Terrinoni, 17, from Royal Palm Beach, will be attending Flagler College to study communications. Brian has competed in FSGA junior competitions and hopes to continue playing at Flagler.

The Future of Golf Foundation is a need and academic based program that provides college scholarships to juniors through FSGA member clubs and junior golfers in the state. The Foundation also assists juniors with entry and travel expenses to USGA National tournaments. In the past year, the FSGA has awarded more than $20,000 in scholarships and provided an additional $20,000 in grants.

To apply for the Future of Golf Foundation scholarship, please see www.fsga.org for an application or call the office at (813) 632-3742 for additional information.

FJT Season Wraps Up

The Florida Junior Tour (FJT) concluded its second season in May at the Legacy Golf Club in Bradenton with the 13-15 age division while the 16-18 age division wrapped up in early May at University Park Country Club.

The 2004-2005 season was such a success with more than 600 juniors signing up for membership compared to 480 in the 2003-2004 season. The season was expanded to 13 events and each event featured a full field of competitive juniors! It also included the first 54-hole event of the Tour at Celebration Golf Club in March. This event had both age divisions competing over three days.

Next season, 14 tournaments are scheduled at great venues including Rio Pinar, Lake Jovita and University of Florida. Memberships are now available at www.floridajuniortour.org. For only $25, juniors receive a bag tag, Tour Member hat and scorecard holder. In addition, juniors are eligible for FJT competitions.

The FSGA Pro Shop has expanded to include FJT merchandise. We now carry FJT logo items including Ahead short sleeve windshirts and golf shirts. Visit the FSGA Pro Shop at www.fsga.org to see what we have to offer.

FJT Member Gennifer Mendez won the Florida Women's Amateur Match Play Championship in May.

Course Set-Up and the Long Ball

by Jim Demick, FSGA Executive Director

The Game has changed and there's no denying it! Shaping shots is a thing of the past - the new way to win is to bang your drive out there 350 yards and then play a short-iron from wherever your drive ends up. Do I like the new game? No, not as much as the one I knew, but I think everyone looks back to when they learned the game as the days when the "game" was best played.

So how does the FSGA react to the "new game" in setting up golf courses for competition? One thing we never do is attempt to defend par. Our primary goal is to identify the best players. We establish the length of a course for a competition by considering the average age and capability of the competitors involved. If you are forty years old and playing in the Amateur Championship the course will feel long to you - but that's because there are kids out there half your age and they kill the ball. Is length our only consideration - of course not - but distance affects the ability to access tight hole locations and the ability to play from the rough. We like to see players occasionally using long-irons on shots other than their second shot to a par five.

The reality of the game is that everyone is hitting the ball farther and there is reduced emphasis on the ability to hit a long-iron approach. Our course set-ups will continue to lengthen with the evolution of the game but we will try to identify the best players by testing all of their skills - not just their driver and their wedge play.

Sometimes we set-up courses so they are quite difficult to play, and sometimes we receive a few complaints. In all due respect, if you want to play in a golf tournament where the course is set-up at a moderate distance with hole locations near the center of the green - we are probably not your best choice. The FSGA conducts Championships and we hope that when you compete in our events you will feel that you have played under very challenging but fair conditions. May the best player win...
