Eustaquio Wins 91st Florida Amateur Championship

Judson Eustaquio fired a course record 4-under par 66 in the final round to win the 91st Florida State Amateur Championship at Jupiter Hills Club in Tequesta on June 19-22.

Judson Eustaquio, 20, of Lake Worth, posted the only under par total of the Championship at 2-under par 280 for the four rounds. In the first round, Eustaquio carded a 2-under par 68 on the par 70 Hills Course for the low round of that day. Eustaquio jumped to the top of the leader board after shooting a second round even par 72 on the Village Course. Playing the Hills Course on the weekend, Eustaquio shot a 74 in the third round to trail the leader by one stroke heading into the final round of play. "I was very confident," said Eustaquio about sitting one back from leader Garrett Morrison. "I knew what I had to do to win."

In the final round, Eustaquio started strong with a birdie on the 2nd hole after holing out from the bunker. "That was a big momentum swing," said Eustaquio. "I had a plugged lie on the lip and just pulled it back for birdie." With a birdie on the 4th hole, Eustaquio made his only bogey of the round on #6 and then recovered with a birdie on seven. After making the turn at 2-under par 33, Eustaquio continued to make birdie on hole #10 to break away from the field. Eustaquio recorded all pars on holes 11-17 and finished with a birdie on 18 after his approach shot left him eight feet from the hole. "I just tried to make pars and if I hit a good shot capitalize on it," said Eustaquio. Eustaquio matched his front nine with a 2-under par 33 on the back nine to secure the title by six strokes. "This win is up there," said Eustaquio. "It's definitely one of my best feats."

Huffman/Olive Win Senior/Mid-Am Four-Ball

The team of Dennis Huffman and Phil Olive made birdie on the third play-off hole to win the Senior/Mid-Amateur Four-Ball Championship at The Golf Club at Fiddlers Creek in Naples.

After 36 holes, Dennis Huffman and Phil Olive shared top honors with first round leaders Austin Jones and Randy Jones to force a playoff. Both teams made par on the first two playoff holes to continue onto the third playoff hole. Playing the par 5, 6th hole, Olive hit his third shot within five feet from the hole and made the birdie putt for the win. Huffman, of Bonita Springs, and Olive, from Estero, shot a 67-69 for the tournament. Austin Jones, from Tampa, and Randy Jones, from Lakeland, led after a first round 7-under par 65 and proceeded to shoot a 71 in the final round. The father and son team won last year's Parent-Child Championship. The South Florida pair of Bill Griffith, of Miami Shores, and Marc Rosenbaum, of Hollywood, took third place recording a 68-69--137. In 2004, Griffith and Rosenbaum won the Mid-Amateur Four-Ball South Championship and Mid-Senior Four-Ball South title.

Aylwin/Graham Set Two-Man Shoot-Out Record

The team of Kevin Aylwin and Wesley Graham recorded a tournament record 186 to win the Two-Man Shoot-Out by an overwhelming 16 strokes at LPGA International in Daytona Beach.

Playing modified alternate shot in the first round on the Legends Course, Aylwin and Graham posted a 69 to trail the leading team by one stroke. The duo came back strong in the second round scramble to fire a 17-under par 55 on the Champions Course to take a commanding eight stroke lead heading into the final round of play. On the final day of four-ball, the pair started the front nine of the Legends Course with par, par then posted seven consecutive three's, including an eagle on the par 5 8th hole, to make the turn at 6-under par 30. Finishing with a 32 on the back nine, Aylwin and Graham carded a 62 to run away with the title.

Past members of the Florida Junior Tour, Aylwin, 19, and Graham, 18, demonstrate the tremendous talent of Florida's junior golfers. This win only adds to their growing list of accomplishments. Aylwin, of New Smyrna Beach, earned 2007 Junior Player-of-the-Year honors after winning the Public Links Championship and Junior Match Play Championship. Graham, of Port Orange, is currently the top-ranked boy in the GolfWeek Ratings and signed to play at Florida State University in the fall. Graham won the junior division of the Boys Junior Championship in 2005 and was a semi-finalist in the 2007 US Junior Amateur Championship.

Amateur Championship Top Ten

It's a tie! Now, what do we do?

by Jack Pultorak, FSGA Director of Rules and Competitions

In golf, like many other sports, the round or rounds are completed and the players are tied. So who's the winner? It is the job of the Committee in charge of the competition to decide who the winner is and how the winner is determined.

Rule 33-6 tells us that "The Committee must announce the manner, day and time for the decision of a halved match or of a tie, whether played on level terms or under handicap. A halved match must not be decided by stroke play. A tie in stroke play must not be decided by a match."

In match play, the Committee may extend the stipulated round by as many holes as are required for a match to be won. In such a case, if you are tied with your opponent at the completion of the stipulated round or rounds, you may continue on a hole by hole basis until a winner is determined. You may notice results such as Jones beats Smith in 23 holes. That means Jones and Smith each halved the first four extra holes and finally Jones won the fifth extra hole to beat Smith. Other times, as in the Ryder Cup matches, the match can end in a tie in which case an equal allotment of points is given to each side; one-half or one full point for each side.

In stroke play, it is recommended that a tie be decided by a play-off. Many times a hole by hole play-off is instituted. Commonly known as "sudden death", the first competitor to record a score lower than the other competitor or competitors is the winner.

In the Florida Amateur Championship, we use a three hole aggregate score play-off to determine the winner as does the USGA in determining the Women's Open Champion. The Open Championship conducted by the R & A uses a four hole aggregate score play-off while the US Open uses a 18 hole play-off such as the Tiger Woods - Rocco Mediate showdown. In each of these cases, if they are still tied after the play-off, they continue on a hole by hole basis.

If a play-off is not feasible, the USGA recommends matching score cards (page 123, "How to Decide Ties" in The Rules of Golf Book). Usually the last nine hole totals are compared to determine the winner. If still tied, the last six hole total, then three and finally the last hole are compared. If still tied, the winner is usually decided by lot such as a flip of a coin.

In individual handicap stroke play competitions, if the last nine, last six, last three method is used, one-half, one third and one sixth, etc. of the handicaps should be deducted for those holes.

Regardless of the type of play-off used, the Committee must announce in advance the method to be used. It is usually listed on the entry form or the Notice to Players. You can imagine the problems that can pop up if the Committee forgot to determine the method and ended up with a tie at the Club Championship!

Remember, use the index or the table of contents to find the correct rule that applies to the situation and follow the Rules of Golf to help yourself to enjoy the game of golf.

Morrison shot a 72-69 in the first two rounds and led after three rounds shooting even par. For the Championship, Morrison finished six back from Eustaquio with a 286 total. Three players tied for third place shooting a four-round total of 290. Robbie Wight, 21, of West Palm Beach, shot a 74-70 and finished with a pair of 73's on the weekend. Eustaquio's teammate at Florida Southern, Danny Evelyn, 20, of Wellington, also tied for third with rounds of 74-77-68-71. David Johnson, 21, of Palm Bay, carded a 72-75-67-76 for a share of third place.

Championships Receive Record Number of Entries

The 2008 Championship is off to a great start as four major Championships have received record number of entries filed.

The Senior, back in April, received more than 385 entries for the Championship at Old Corkscrew GC compared to 379 in 2007. Since the number of entries received has always surpassed the capacity of the Championship, a qualifying stage was instituted in 2005 when 346 golfers attempted to qualify.

The Amateur Championship at Jupiter Hills received 923 entries this year. Last year at Innisbrook, 848 golfers signed up for a qualifying site.

In addition, the Boys Junior, Four-Ball and Match Play set record numbers. The Junior received over 350 entries up just a few from last year while more than 260 entries were received for the Four-Ball at TPC Sawgrass. That is almost 100 more than last year's event! More than 320 players filed an entry for the Amateur Match Play in only its second year of qualifying.

We hope to continue this upward trend for the remaining season and years to come!

Future of Golf Foundation Awards Five Scholarships

The Florida State Golf Association (FSGA) is pleased to announce that five deserving juniors have been awarded scholarships through the Future of Golf Foundation. The Future of Golf Foundation provides college scholarships to employees and the dependents of employees of member clubs as well as junior golfers in the state.

Casey Clayton, 18, from University Park, finished her senior year at Riverview High School where she maintained a 4.6 GPA. Casey will be attending University of Minnesota – Twin Cities in the fall with hopes of becoming an oral surgeon. Casey played in the Greater Sarasota Junior Golf Association and varsity golf for the high school.

Bria Hitt, 17, from Miami, graduated from Coral Reef Senior High School and will be attending Florida International University where she has been accepted into the mechanical engineering program. Bria plays and volunteers with the First Tee of Miami and also played on her high school's golf and tennis teams.

Sara Hodges, 18, attended First Academy in Leesburg and will be going to Yale University in the fall. Sara ranked first in her class with a 4.7 GPA. She works at Arlington Ridge Golf Club and also played varsity golf and is a member of the Lake County Junior Golf Association

Janet Keatley, 18, from Casselberry, attends University of Central Florida majoring in psychology. Janet keeps a 3.25 GPA at UCF while staying active in community and school activities.

Eric Baker, 17, from Lady Lake, graduated from Leesburg High School last month. He has worked at Harbor Hills Country Club and Tree Tops Driving Range. An avid golfer, Eric also helps teach junior golf camps at Harbor Hills.

In addition to providing college scholarships, the Foundation assists junior golfers with entry and travel expenses to state and national tournaments. This summer, we anticipate supporting many of Florida's outstanding junior golfers with financial expenses to USGA National Championships. In the past, the Foundation has enabled juniors to travel and compete in such Championships as the United States Junior, United States Amateur and United States Women's Open. The Foundation also provides reduced entry fees into Florida Junior Tour events. Last year, the Foundation awarded more than $90,000 in scholarships, financial assistance and grants.
